Bonnie Henson Communications Launches Redesigned Web Site

Owings Mills, Md.— Bonnie Henson Communications \(BHC\), a full-service marketing communications agency, recently launched its redesigned Web site, which emphasizes the firm’s integrated approach to communications.

“Being full service means having the knowledge and wherewithal to provide whatever services are necessary to serve our clients, and we want this Web site to reinforce that edge,” said BHC President Bonnie K. Henson. “BHC provides a full-range of communications approaches, supported by our signature personalized quality service, and the site shows how we do it, and do it successfully.”

The site now features a portfolio of BHC’s work in the areas of advertising, marketing, publications, special events, public relations and Web communications. In this section, the viewer can see images of art samples, which are accompanied by descriptions of the firm’s creative approach to the project. The portfolio will be updated periodically. The site also includes company information and staff bios, client testimonials, latest news and contact information.
